Volunteer Projects
We're planting trees and native vegetation in parks across San Diego. All equipment will be provided and participants will receive detailed instructions, as well as tips for planting at home. Wear clothes you can get dirty, closed-toed shoes, sun protection, and bring water. Projects vary by location; call the park for details.

See Our Story Trails
Kids can practice their reading skills in nature, thanks to a special Story Trails series that has been set up by the San Diego County Library in multiple County parks. They've printed book pages on signs, and our park rangers have posted them along family-friendly trails in some of our most popular day-use destinations. Books are in English and Spanish.
